2026 Hawai'i Flood Appeal

After two back-to-back Kona-low storms pummeled the Hawaiian Islands relentlessly over two weeks in March, residents are now facing the overwhelming tasks of cleanup and damage assessment. A new fund has been established through the National offices of the United Church of Christ to collect and distribute monetary donations to support congregations and individuals who have been impacted. If you are so moved, we encourage all to donate directly to the national appeal, as the Conference Office will not be setting up a separate fund to receive donations. Donations may be made online:

THIS MONTH'S EMERGING THOUGHT

"Many churches are exhausted because they believe their primary task is to save institutions that no longer function the way they once did. But what if the calling is different? What if congregations are being invited to become places that accompany communities through a time of profound transition? That shift—from institutional survival to communal accompaniment—changes everything."

—Cameron Trimble, ordained UCC minister and CEO of Convergence, a not-for-profit organization focused on congregational and organizational transformation
